

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. 3.

Interviews with Individuals.

The Secretary has met over 2000 persons in New England in connection with this work during the year in personal conversation. Among these are residents of cities, villages and country, representing every New England state; also, men of professions, public officials and different pursuits. He finds, as might be expected a diversity of views as to what education properly is, how it should be conducted and paid for, what its limits at public charge should be and the like, but in the main a wish to promote educational progress and greater equality of educational opportunity.

Legislation

The League as a body has recommended no specific legislation. It has called attention to the fact of gross inequalities schoolwise as to opportunity and taxation, and how, according to educational and public authorities, these may for the most part be corrected. Some friends of the League favor consolidation of districts into towns (Conn. and R.I.) some favor town groups or counties for expensive schools, some favor a natural unit based on accessibility of schools. In taxation some advocate handling it as is done with new highways (in some states); town, $\frac{1}{3}$; County, $\frac{1}{3}$; State, $\frac{1}{3}$. Others believe in State tax. Still others in local supplemented by State tax while some think in some way all New England should cooperate for education. The Report of Committee of Twelve on Rural Schools, official documents of State Secretaries of Education and Governors present these subjects at length. The League calls attention to the fact that the civic wisdom of the people must in the end adjust these matters and, while new legislation naturally comes up each year, much may be done under existing laws by forming a more intelligent public opinion, by wisely directed philanthropy and the cooperation of all agencies interested in public education. All these points are discussed to some extent in printed matter sent to subscribers.

Dublin, N. H. Schools, See The People, July '99, p. 2.

Three Educational Lectures for all New England are explained in The People, Nov., 1899, page 4.

A Cheap Library Post.

An important movement of this kind has arisen in connection with the general effort of the League. This is described in The People, July, 1899, p. 5 and November, 1899, p. 5.

Some School Studies

are described in papers sent to subscribers as follows: - "Natural School Unit", The People, July, 1899 page 3; "Post office and Public Libraries", The People, July and Nov., 1899, p. 5; "Physical Training in New England Schools", The People, Nov., 1899, Supplement, Other material of value has been collected in the line of comparative study of New England school laws, transportation of pupils, application of elective idea to important unrecognized studies and other subjects, but it has been impossible to put them in print to date.

Photographs

We are collecting some photographs illustrative of These matters and it is hoped in time to have facilities presenting these subjects by fitting illustrations.

Printing.

Three carefully prepared papers of some length have been printed during the year. "Equal Education in New England" in Cambridge Chronicle Magazine for April; "A New England Education Policy" or "The Extension of the Mass. High School Law to New England" in New England Magazine for June; "A Cheap Library Post", Address before A. S. A meeting at Atlanta, Ga., printed in Boston Transcript of May 13, 1899; editorials referred to above.

Financial Report.

A report of the finances, audited, is herewith presented. It covers period from Jan. 8, 1897 to Feb. 6, 1899. See copy later.

Improved Finances.

Comparatively little effort was made to gather funds prior to February, 1899. During 1897 and 1898 a basis of agreement was obtained for the work and the work presented to a large number of persons throughout New England for their consideration. After long and careful preliminary effort, it was found wise and necessary to strengthen the financial side of the work. A circular signed by prominent men and women of New England was prepared and in response thereto larger financial help has been obtained. See The People, page 7, July issue.

List of Subscribers is given later.

The Future.

The League will proceed on the lines originally planned and thus far successfully pursued.

1. Judicious agitation, diffusion of information,
2. Formation of right public opinion,
3. Wise legislation
4. Well directed philanthropy

It is believed, as stated in papers and reports of the League that New England has a better opportunity than any other equal area for working out a wise, adaptive and comprehensive system of public education to reach every community, family and child within its borders.

List of Subscribers to date.

The Secretary includes in this list all who have given subscriptions since the New England Education League began. Some subscribers to a preliminary movement are given on separate paper. In the list one amount is given which in some cases includes several separate subscriptions.
